Relationships and Health Education Policy

Mission

“We will prepare the way by loving, living and learning with the Lord.”

This policy relates directly to the aims of St John the Baptist Catholic School. Fundamental to the aims of the school being achieved is a realisation that the learning and development of a pupil is a partnership between parents, pupils, teachers and support staff, within a framework of gospel values.

We believe that God lives at the very heart of our Community. His love has created us and given us the precious gift of life.

Relationship and Health Education is provided within a religious context. It is given, where appropriate, throughout the school.

The person responsible for leading policy development on behalf of the governors is the PSHE subject leader.

How this policy was developed

The Catholic faith has a distinctive understanding of the human person, of true relationships and of the nature of community. This understanding should be reflected in the way a Catholic school forms its policy and enables its young people to grow up sharing the experience of belonging to a community with Gospel values.

The Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education (England) Regulations 2019, made under sections 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017, make Relationships Education compulsory for all pupils receiving primary education and Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) compulsory for all pupils receiving secondary education This policy also takes guidance from the Archdiocese of Birmingham, guidance from the National Healthy Schools Programme, reference to ‘Keeping Children Safe in Education’ (2025) and has been written in accordance with LA Guidelines for RSE.

What is RSE?

The DfE guidance states that “children and young people need to know how to be safe and healthy, and how to manage their academic, personal and social lives in a positive way”. It is about the development of the pupil’s knowledge and understanding of her or him as a sexual being, about what it means to be fully human, called to live in right relationships with self and others and being enabled to make moral decisions in conscience. In primary schools the focus should be on “teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships, with particular reference to friendships, family relationships, and relationships with other children and with adults.” This would include the topics of families and the people of who care for me, caring friendships, respectful relationships, online relationships and being safe.

‘I have come that you might have life and have it to the full’ (John 10.10)

We are involved in relationships and health education precisely because of our Christian beliefs about God and about the human person. The belief in the unique dignity of the human person made in the image and likeness of God underpins the approach to all education in a Catholic school. Our approach to RSE therefore is rooted in the Catholic Church's teaching of the human person and presented in a positive framework of Christian ideals.

At the heart of the Christian life is the Trinity; Father, Son and Spirit in communion, united in loving relationship and embracing all people and all creation. As a consequence of the Christian belief that we are made in the image and likeness of God, gender and sexuality are seen as God's gift, reflect God's beauty, and share in the divine creativity. RHE, therefore, will be placed firmly within the context of relationship as it is there that sexuality grows and develops.

Following the guidance of the Bishops of England and Wales and as advocated by the DfE RHE will be firmly embedded in the PSHE framework as it is concerned with nurturing human wholeness and integral to the physical, spiritual, emotional, moral, social and intellectual development of pupils. It is centred on Christ's vision of being human as good news and will be positive and prudent, showing the potential for development, while enabling the dangers and risks involved to be understood and appreciated.

All RHE will be in accordance with the Church's moral teaching. It will emphasise the central importance of marriage and the family whilst acknowledging that all pupils have a fundamental right to have their life respected whatever household they come from. It will also prepare pupils for life in modern Britain.

At St John the Baptist, we recognise that relationships and health education begins in the home. Being part of a loving family, becoming increasingly aware as a developing child of one's own body and those of siblings, to be aware that there are boys and girls and that they are different, that a family has a loving parent or parents and that one should respect themselves and others thereby building positive relationships.

Consultation

We recognise that parents/carers are the primary educators of their children. As a Catholic school, we provide the principal means by which the Church assists parents and carers in educating their children. Therefore, the school will support parents and carers by providing material to be shared with their children at home and workshops to help parents/carers to find out more. Parents/carers in all classes will be informed by letter when the more sensitive aspects of RHE will be covered in order that they can be prepared to talk and answer questions about their children's learning.

Parents/carers will be consulted at every stage of the development of the RHE programme, as well as during the process of monitoring, review and evaluation. They will be able to view the resources used by the school in the RHE programme. Our aim is that, at the end of the consultation process, every parent and carer will have full confidence in the school's RHE programme to meet their child's needs.

Parents continue to have the right to withdraw their children from Sex Education except in those elements which are required by the National Curriculum science orders. Should parents wish to withdraw their children they are asked to notify the school by contacting the headteacher. The school will provide support by providing material for parents to help the children with their learning. We believe that the controlled environment of the classroom is the safest place for this curriculum to be followed.

Statement of values for RHE

Our RHE programme enshrines Catholic values relating to the importance of stable relationships, marriage and family life. It also promotes those virtues which are essential in responding to the God's call to love others with a proper respect for their dignity and the dignity of the human body. The following virtues will be explicitly explored and promoted: faithfulness, fruitfulness, chastity, integrity, prudence, mercy and compassion.

RE will reflect the values of the PSHE programme that are in evidence through the school's mission statement and Catholic ethos. As a result of consultation, the values identified below are felt to be of particular pertinence in RHE. Alongside them are examples of what these values look like in action.

Statement of Aims

At St John the Baptist, we are committed to the education of the whole child (spiritual, physical, intellectual, moral, social, cultural, emotional) and we believe that RHE is an integral part of this education. Furthermore, we endeavour to raise pupils' self-esteem, help them to grow in knowledge and understanding, recognise the value of all persons and develop caring and sensitive attitudes.

RHE at St John the Baptist will contribute to the school's overall aims by helping children:

To develop the following attitudes and virtues:

- respect for the dignity of every human being – in their own person and in the person of others;
- joy in the goodness of the created world and their own bodily natures;
- responsibility for their own actions and a recognition of the impact of these on others;

- celebrating the gift of life-long, self-giving love;
- recognising the importance of marriage and family life;
- fidelity in relationships.

To develop the following personal and social skills:

- making sound judgements and good choices which have integrity, and which are respectful of the individual's commitments;
- loving and being loved, and the ability to form friendships and loving, stable relationships free from exploitation, abuse and bullying;
- managing emotions within relationships, and when relationships break down, with confidence, sensitivity and dignity;
- managing conflict positively, recognising the value of difference;
- cultivating humility, mercy and compassion, learning to forgive and be forgiven;
- developing self-esteem and confidence, demonstrating self-respect and empathy for others;
- building resilience and the ability to resist unwanted pressures, recognising the influence and impact of the media, internet and peer groups and so developing the ability to assess pressures and respond appropriately;

To know and understand:

- the Church's teaching on relationships;
- the Church's teaching on marriage and the importance of marriage and family life;
- the centrality and importance of virtue in guiding human living and loving;
- the physical and psychological changes that accompany puberty;
- the facts about human reproduction;

RHE will:

- Provide information which is easy to understand and is relevant and appropriate to the age and maturity of the children;
- Include the development of communication and social skills;
- Encourage the exploration and clarification of values and development of positive attitudes.

Roles and responsibilities

Responsibility for the specific relationships and health education programme lays with the PSHE subject leader. However, all staff will be involved in developing the attitudes and values aspect of the RHE programme. They will be role models for pupils of good, healthy, wholesome relationships as between staff, other adults and pupils. They will also be contributing to the development of pupils' personal and social skills.

External Visitors Our school will often call upon help and guidance from outside agencies and health specialists to deliver aspects of RHE. Such visits will always complement the current programme and never substitute or replace teacher led sessions. It is important that any external visitor is clear about their role and responsibility whilst they are in school delivering a session. Health professionals should follow the school's policies, minimising the potential for disclosures or inappropriate comments using negotiated ground rules and distancing techniques as other teachers would. They will ensure that all teaching is rooted in Catholic principles and practice.

Governors Ensure that the RHE policy is available to parents and is in accordance with other whole school policies; ensure that parents know of their right to withdraw their children; ensure that the policy provides proper and adequate coverage of relevant National Curriculum science topics and the setting of RHE within PSHE.

Headteacher The Head teacher takes overall delegated responsibility for the implementation of this policy and for liaison with the Governing Body, parents, the Diocesan Schools' Service and the Local Education Authority, also appropriate agencies.

PSHE & RHE Subject Leaders with the headteacher, have a general responsibility for supporting other members of staff in the implementation of this policy and will provide a lead in the dissemination of the information relating to RHE and the provision of in-service training.

All Staff RHE is a whole school issue. All teachers have a responsibility of care; as well as fostering academic progress they should actively contribute to the guardianship and guidance of the physical, moral and spiritual well-being of their pupils. Teachers will be expected to teach RHE in accordance with the Catholic Ethos of the school. Appropriate training will be made available for all staff teaching RHE. All staff should be aware of the policy and how it relates to them

The taught RHE programme

Three aspects of RHE - attitudes and values, knowledge and understanding, and personal and social skills will be provided in three inter-related ways: the whole school / ethos dimension; a cross-curricular dimension and a specific relationships and health curriculum.

We will ensure that pupils have access to the learning they need to stay safe, healthy and understand their rights as individuals.

RHE is taught as an integral part of the school's PSHE provision which is based on the Ten Ten 'Life to the Full Plus' scheme along with the Jigsaw scheme of work. Elements will also be covered within the statutory science national curriculum and RE curriculum. Texts used in English will often provide opportunities for the development of themes within RHE. In this way, children will be able to develop their ideas, knowledge and skills gradually and appropriately.

The long-term plans for PSHE, Science and RE schemes of work identify the following topics where objectives relating to RHE are encountered:

As part of science, children will be taught to:

(Key Stage 1)

- identify, name, draw and label the basic parts of the human body and say which part of the body is associated with each sense
- notice that animals, including humans, have offspring which grow into adults
- find out about and describe the basic needs of animals, including humans, for survival (water, food and air)
- describe the importance for humans of exercise, eating the right amounts of different types of food, and hygiene

(Key Stage 2)

- identify that animals, including humans, need the right types and amount of nutrition, and that they cannot make their own food; they get nutrition from what they eat
- identify that humans and some other animals have skeletons and muscles for support, protection and movement
- describe the simple functions of the basic parts of the digestive system in humans

- identify the different types of teeth in humans and their simple functions
- describe the changes as humans develop to old age
- identify and name the main parts of the human circulatory system, and describe the functions of the heart, blood vessels and blood
- recognise the impact of diet, exercise, drugs and lifestyle on the way their bodies function
- describe the ways in which nutrients and water are transported within animals, including humans

Aspects of our RHE programme do not sit within the science curriculum. Parents may exercise their legal right to withdraw children from aspects of the programme outside the current statutory curriculum.

As part of RHE and by the end of EYFS children will be taught:

- to expand vocabulary and apply names to family/friend relationships
- to understand the importance of bodily privacy

As part of RHE and by the end of KS1 children will be taught:

- to name the external parts of the body
- that all babies, human and animal, have mothers and fathers
- about how they have grown and changed since they were a baby and that they will continue growing and changing as they become adults

As part of RHE and by the end of KS2 children will be taught:

- to identify parts of the reproductive system in males and females and describe their functions
- to consider appropriate terminology for use in different contexts
- to recognise and challenge gender stereotypes
- about healthy and unhealthy relationships both online and offline
- about keeping themselves safe when involved in risky situations including online
- when it is appropriate to take a risk and when to say no and seek help (issues of consent)
- harmful sexual behaviour, sexual harassment and sexual violence - our school has a zero-tolerance approach to these issues, that it is never acceptable, and it will not be tolerated
- about the processes of reproduction and birth as part of the human life cycle
- about the physical changes that take place at puberty
- that you have to take extra care with personal hygiene during puberty
- about changing emotions as they grow up
- what babies need in order to be happy and healthy
- about the demands of looking after a baby
- about how they can help care for babies and young children they know

More information regarding the curriculum can be found in Appendix 1 and 2.

Sensitive Issues

When questions arise relating to the issues below staff should answer appropriately with regard to the age, needs and development of the child as stated in the values integrity and knowledge. Staff may wish to discuss answers on an individual or small group basis rather than with the whole class. We will consider whether questions are ok to discuss in school or if it is a question where the child needs to ask someone at home who they feel comfortable with.

- Homosexuality – pupils should be reminded that ‘respect’ is one of our values however this is an issue that should be raised in the child’s home context.
- Transgender – it is important that RHE caters for all pupils and is respectful of how pupils choose to identify themselves, understanding that depending on their age and maturity, their sexual orientation and gender identity may be ‘emerging’. This means that RHE must be sensitive to the different needs of individual pupils and may need to evolve over time.
- Intercourse – information about how intercourse occurs is taught in a scientific nature as part of RHE, however any further questions are referred to home. If this issue arises, several values must be considered and the answers given be in keeping with them. Information will be given as stated in the value ‘knowledge’ but within the context of ‘love’ – commitment within family life, marriage. In year 6 children will learn about reasons people decide to marry and the unique relationship between couples. The aforementioned values will underpin all teaching and learning.
- Female genital mutilation (FGM) – staff are aware (through child protection training and our Child Protection Policy) on how to deal with this if the situation arises.

Teaching Strategies

A wide range of teaching strategies will be used, predominantly by the class teachers that enable pupils to actively participate in their own learning. These will include circle time, planned aspects of science and PSHE, stories/literacy and visits from external agencies such as the school nurse or visiting theatre groups.

Children will also need to feel safe and secure in the environment in which RHE takes place. Effective RHE will provide opportunities for discussion of what is and is not appropriate in relationships.

Ground rules will always be established by teachers to create a ‘safe environment’ in which they do not feel embarrassed or anxious about unintended or unexpected questions or comments from pupils. Examples of rules are:

- No one will have to answer a personal question;
- No one will be forced to take part in a discussion;
- Only the correct names for body parts will be used;
- Meanings of words will be explained in a factual and sensible way.

Distancing techniques will be used to help teachers to avoid embarrassment and protect pupils’ privacy by depersonalising discussions. Role-play is a powerful strategy through which this can be achieved. Difficult or explicit questions do not have to be answered directly (see ground rules) but may be answered individually later, at a prearranged time, with honesty and due regard for the age and maturity of the child as well as being within the school’s agreed framework of values. If staff are in any way concerned they will seek advice from the PSHE Subject Leader or Headteacher if the issue is one of child protection.

Resources

We follow the Ten Ten ‘Life to the Full Plus’ scheme, along with the Jigsaw PSHE scheme, both of which have age-appropriate resources relevant to the needs of our children with regard to the following points:

- The school’s values and moral framework;
- Appropriateness in terms of language, images, attitude, maturity and understanding;
- Factual accuracy;
- The range of children and families it reflects;
- The needs of boys and girls;
- Purpose – skills development, development of attitudes, discussion of values, providing information;

- Encouraging active and participatory methods.

Parents are invited to view any videos at a meeting led by the PSHE Subject Leader.

Inclusion

We will ensure RHE is sensitive to the different needs of individual pupils in respect to pupils' different abilities, levels of maturity and personal circumstances; for example, their own sexual orientation, faith or culture and is taught in a way that does not subject pupils to discrimination. Lessons will also help children to realise the nature and consequences of discrimination, teasing, bullying and aggressive behaviours (including cyber-bullying), use of prejudice-based language and how to respond and ask for help. It is recognised that pupils and staff may come from a variety of family situations and home backgrounds. Care will be taken that there is no stigmatisation based upon home circumstances.

Programmes of RHE will be planned so that students with learning, emotional or behavioural difficulties or physical disabilities will also be able to understand their physical and emotional development thus enabling them to make positive decisions in their lives. Teaching methods will be adapted to meet the varying needs of this group of pupils.

As a school, we are aware of factors that increase a child's vulnerability, or potential vulnerability, such as mental ill health, domestic abuse, having additional needs, and being at greater risk of exploitation and/or of feeling unable to report abuse (for example, girls and lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender children).

Equalities Obligations

The governing body have wider responsibilities under the Equalities Act 2010 and will ensure that our school strives to do the best for all of the pupils, irrespective of disability, educational needs, race, nationality, ethnic or national origin, pregnancy, maternity, sex, gender identity, religion or sexual orientation or whether they are looked-after children.

Confidentiality and Advice

All governors, all teachers, all support staff, all parents and all pupils must be made aware of this policy, particularly as it relates to issues of advice and confidentiality.

All lessons, especially those in the RHE programme, will have the best interests of pupils at heart, enabling them to grow in knowledge and understanding of relationships, developing appropriate personal and social skills and becoming appreciative of the values and attitudes which underpin the Christian understanding of what it means to be fully human.

Pupils will be encouraged to talk to their parents/carers about the issues which are discussed in the programme. Teachers will always help pupils facing personal difficulties, in line with the school's pastoral care procedures. Teachers will need to be aware of the needs of their pupils and not let any fears and worries go unnoticed. Where a teacher suspects that a child or young person is a victim of or is at risk of abuse they are required to follow the school's safeguarding policy and immediately inform the designated safeguarding lead (DSL).

Teachers should explain to pupils that they cannot offer unconditional confidentiality, in matters which are illegal or abusive for instance. Teachers will explain that in such circumstances they would have to inform others, e.g., parents, headteacher, but that the pupils would always be informed first that such action was going to be taken.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The PSHE subject leader will monitor the provision of the programme by examining plans, schemes of work and samples of pupils work at regular intervals. The programme will be evaluated biannually by means of questionnaires/discussion with pupils, staff and parents.

This document takes the exact wording from the DFE Statutory Guidance and indicates which Learning Stage covers each objective.

Our CES/DFE Mapping Matrix provides more detailed information about where these objectives are met in the Life to the Full programme.
