

The Rights of the Reader

To be a successful and enthusiastic reader, you have the right to:

- read any book you want
- read in peace
- stop reading a book if it's not for you
- re-read books
- share your book with others
- get help with your reading
- feel emotional when reading
- read anywhere
- read at any speed
- have your own opinion on an author
- enjoy a certain type of book
- enjoy books by the same author
- recommend books to others
- read the same book as others
- read anything, not just books
- motivate others to read
