

Industry

Aboriginal People

Colony

Settler

Mining

Commonwealth

Biome

Uluru

Activity where raw materials are changed into goods that can be used and traded

People living in Australia from the earliest times, before the arrival of settlers or colonists

A country, or an area, under the control of another country and often occupied by settlers from that country

A person who has moved, with other people, to live in a new country or area

Where a raw resource is extracted from the earth, for example, coal

A group of countries that used to be part of the British Empire, but now voluntarily work together on issues such as human rights

A community of plants and animals that have shared characteristics due to the environment they live in

A massive sandstone rock in Australia's Northern Territory. Uluru is sacred to indigenous Australians and is thought to have started formina around 550 million vears ago

